SEQUELS TO THE DANCER ROBBERY.

ARREST OF A MAN WHOM MRS. DONCER IS UNABLE TO IDENTIFY-THEORIES AS TO THE PERPETRA-TORS OF THE CRIME-ATTEMPTS BY THIEVES TO ENTER HOUSES ON PRETENCE OF REPAIRING WATER PIPES.

Superintendent Walling is pushing his investigations in regard to the Dancer robbery. The police roblerday arrested a man in the Ninth Ward who was wn to be a thief, and who filled in some respects the ription given by Mrs. Doncer of one of those who seized her on Monday when the house was robbed. In the Charles Street Police Station the prisoner described himself as Frank Demond alias Captain Kennedy took the prisoner to the Police illing. There was no evidence against Demend, but the police believed that he was a sneak thief wanted by of of Police Donovan of Hoboken. Chief Donovan was ent for, but he found that the prisoner was not the man lace Police Court. Mrs. Dancer, however, was unab to identify him as one of the gang who gagged and bed her, and the prisoner was discharged. Superinendent Walling said that he did not believe that the bery was committed by professional thieves. It is wn to many persons who have been connected with own to many persons was more seen to many persons and gambling houses, where cheating is actived, that Mr. Dancer has been in the habit carrying large sums of money upon his son. An attempt was made to rob him some to ago, but he escaped them without loss. It is person. An attempt was made to rob him some time ago, but he escaped them without loss. It is conjectured that the gang who robbed the house on Monday knew that Mr. Dancer had a large amount of valuable bonds in the house. The robbers were looking for a particular package, and when they found the $40,000 of Virginia sixes, they believed that they had secured what they had come for. This would account for the robbers everlooking the $25,000 of New-York Central Railroad bonds and a large quantity of other valuable property. The detectives are following up several clews and expect to arrest some of the gang soon.

The Dancer robbery seems to have magnired other ruffans with a desire to indicate that exploit. On Tuesday two men called at No. 310 Madison-ave., the family occupying the house being away in the country, and told the woman in charge that they had been sent to repair the water-pipes. The woman refused to admit the men, and afterward reported the case to Captain permit at the Nineteenth Precinct Police Station. A similar attempt was also made at Superintendent Walling's residence. Two men rang the door-belt there on Tuesday evening, in the absence of the Superintendent, and told his daughter that they were plumbers who had been sent there to repair the water pipes. The young lady shut the door in their faces and reported the case to her father when he returned home.

INVENTIONS FOR RAPID TRANSIT.

PLANS BEFORE THE COMMISSIONERS-COMMUNICA-TIONS AND DRAWINGS RECEIVED-SCHEMES OF ALEXANDER BRANDON, J. W. EVANS, AND THE PRISMOID RAILEOAD.

The meeting of the Commissioners of Rapid Transit yesterday was private, as the preceding meet-ings had been, and both representatives of the press and inventors were excluded. This caused much comment. Many inventors appear to be in favor of presenting and explaining their plans in an open meeting. One of the missioners remarked yesterday that they were not yet fully prepared to go on with their work.

They ought to have first-class counsel and an engineer of the highest ability and widest experience to assist them the highest ability and widest experience to assist them in their deliberations. The Commissioners were working bard, he said, but somewhat at random.

Yesterday all that was done was to receive communications, plans, models, estimates, &c., from inventors, and to arrange them according to some system of classification. This work is preparatory to that of calling in the inventors singly and asking them to explain their achenes. The notice published on Tuesday that all plans, &c., must be sent in by Aug. 1 is said by one of the Commissioners to have somewhat delayed the reception of plans which are known to be among those that will be presented. This is because inventors want to put off the presentation of their plans until nearly the last day, so that inthe opportunity will be given to rival inventors to that in the opportunity will be given to rival inventors to criticise them. Upward of 30 communications from per, sons having plans to present have been received. These communications, not being accompanied by plans, are laid aside for future reference. There have also been received 16 communications accommanded by plans, drawings, models, estimates, &c. These are numbered and arranged in order as fast as they are received. Following is a list of persons from whom communications have been received.

The room in which the Commissioners meet presents a peculiar appearance. All about on the tables are placed models, large and small, some of iron, some of wood, some with movable cars, and some without, walle the floor and the desks are covered with letters, drawings, and maps. Some of the drawings are very large. One exhibited yesterday was several yards long, and could only be examined by being stretched out upon the floor. The clevated system seems to be the favorite one with inventors, and of all the plans which have been brought before the Commissioners only one is for an underground or smaken road. This proposes an open cut, the bottom of which will be 10 feet below the street level, while the realls will rise 3 feet above.

which will be 10 feet below the street level, while the wails will rise 3 feet above.

Among the plans presented yesterday were the following: Alexander Brandon of New-York, represented by P. H. Jackson, submitted a model of an elevated railroad, to be constructed over the center of the street, and to be supported on iron columns 1 foot thick, placed in pairs at intervals of 52 feet. These columns are to be placed midway in the blocks so as not to obstruct the street corners. There are to be two elevated tracks for passenger cars, and one track, on the street surface beneath for freight cars. The stone foundations are to be 7 feet thick, and project 3 feet above the street level. The outside width of the structure is to be 10 feet. Especial provisions are made against vibration. Telegraph wires are to be run along the girders. The estimated cost is not over $400.000 per mile. The small space which this road would occupy is chimed to be one of its chief advantages.

J. W. Evans of New-Tork presented drawings of a continuous suspension bridge to carry the tracks of an elevated railroad. This is to be supported on three from arches over the center of the street. The cables are to pass through the arches, each span being 260 feet in length. There are to be two tracks.

A model of the Prismoid Railroad system, of which A.

G. Busby of Philadelphia is the patentee, is to be presented to-day. This, it is claimed, can be built for 850,000 per mile, with a double track over the sidewalks of a street. It is said that 12 miles of this kind of road are building in San Francisco, and that it is used extensively as surface railroad in South America.

BROOKLYN SILENT ELEVATED RAILWAY PROTESTS AGAINST A CHANGE OF ROUTE-OBJECT TIONS TO CONSTRUCTION OF THE ROAD IN MYR-

A meeting of the Special Committee of the Board of Aldermen of Brooklyn, to consider the proposed change of route of the Shent Elevated Railway Company was held last evening. The proposition of the Company, to change the route of their road from Park-ave, to Myrtle-ave., and to run on that street as far as Grandave. Alderman Fisher presided, and a large number of property-owners of Myrtle-ave, were present to oppose the change. Alderman Fisher first said that the Con see had received a remonstrance from a number of owners of property on Park-ave., who protested against the of an elevated railroad along their street.

Gen. Crooke said that he had no personal interest in the matter, but he represented some property-owners on Myrtle-ave. The route which had been decided upon by the Legislature was through Sands-st. and Park-ave., and be sould see no reason for any change. Myrtle-ave, had already a line of horse-cars which connected with Fulton Ferry, and also with Jamaica, a distance of 12

It is understood that nearly or quite all of the Assembly Districts will be represented at the meeting. In some of the districts the movement has assumed formidable dimensions, and the leaders claim that they have with them the aympathy of a mijority of the Republican voters in those districts. A call for primary meetings in all the Assembly Districts throughout the city will be issued. It is the intention to form a rival General Committee, and also to elect delegates who will also be admitted at the next Republican State Convention.

THE QUARANTINE INVESTIGATION.

VISIT OF THE LEGISLATIVE COMMITTEE TO DIX AND HOFFMAN ISLANDS, THE HOSPITAL SHIP ILLI-NOIS, AND TO SEGUIN'S POINT. The Quarantine steamer, Nelson K. Hopkins, yesterday carried the Legislative Committee, which is investigating the affairs of the Quarantine and Emigration Commissions, on a tour of inspection of the Quarant man Islands, the hospital ship Illinois, the burying-ground at Seguin's Point, and the boarding station on Staten Island. The members of the commit-tee, with the exception of F. W. Vosburgh, who was at Saratoga, were all present, and the trip was under control of the Quarantine Commissioners and the Health Officer, Dr. Vanderpoel, who explained the design of each building and its surroundings. Among the visitors were Messrs. Campbell, Hess, and Dessar of the Committee for the investigation of crime in New-York, George A. Burtiss, L. D. Stephens, James Daly, Hiram Calkins, Gen. Jacob Sharp, James Davies, James Lynch, Dr.

Mosher, M. Kane, Dr. Hull, and R. M. Gray.

At Hoffman Island Dr. Vanderpoel explained to the Committee that the buildings there were not intended for hospitals, but as places for the detention of passengers who had been exposed to contagious diseases. The establishment on Dix Island is a hospital in which cases of cholera or yellow fever will be received, but when one of these diseases is under treatment there Illinois will receive persons suffering from the other. In this way a person attacked with cholera will never be exposed to yellow fever. The buildings on Hoffman Island are not furnished, except with cooking apparatus. Cots and other necessary notice. The Nelson K. Hopkins then steamed to Se; Point, and passed the sand bank at Great Kills, which it is proposed to buy for a new grave-yard, as it is convenitions of the tide. A collation was served on board the steamer as the party was returning to the Illinois, which they inspected. Then the buildings on Dix Island were thrown open to the Committee and examined. The interest of the investigation was lost in the result of the who was the victor, and Mr. Schuyler and Speaker Me-Guire, who are trustees of Cornell, led the company in loud hurrahs. The boat next stopped at Staten Island, and the company visited the house of Dr. Vanderpoel. EThe Committee will begin to take testimony at Castle

Garden this morning. Speaker McGuire, Chairman of the Committee, said yesterday that the method of investigating would be determined as the investigation pro-ceeded. The officials in the Departments of Quarantine and Emigration will be examined, to learn the details of their management, then commercial men will be listened to, and their suggestions be weighed by the Committee. The objects of the investigation, said Mr. McGuire, are the discovery of evils in the present or past administrations, and the development of a system of quarantine which shall be both convenient and effective in future.

There is nothing established in the present system. The detention of a vessel is regulated either by the judgment or cupidity of the Health Offleer, and the authority which he can exercise over all the commerce of NewYork is a most powerful means of blackmail in the hands of an unprucipled main. The Commissioners of Emigration had been compelled to raise some $300,000 during the past Winter by mortgaging the property under their control, and the cest of the present system of quarantine is a cause of complaint among merchants. Speaker McGuire declared that his theory of investigation is not the mere tracing of money already lost, but rather a searching out and blocking of the ways in which peculation is possible. He did not think that the State will be more wealthy if discovers who holds the $478,000 which in Senator Wood's report are declared to be unaccounted for. The State will be the letter for a perfect system of quarantine, if that can,be developed. If McGuire added that his epposition to Winter arose from a difference in their theories of investigation, said that he had nothing to fear from it, although he had handled all the money of the Quarantine Commission and had in his possession all that had been stolen during his term of office. When the investigation was moved in Albany the neerchants of New-York proposed to hold a meeting to indorse the Commissioners, but had given it up in compliance with the wish of the Commissioners, who did not want to shield themselves in that way. The appropriations for this year are smaller than for previous years, as are also the receipts. The falling off of immigration could be traced in the decrease of the amount of head-money collected by the Endgration Commissioners. In 1873 the head-money for May amounted to $52,107; for May, 1874, i

NEW-JERSEY MIDLAND RAILROAD. MEETING OF THE BONDHOLDERS-CONDITION OF THE ROAD TO BE INVESTIGATED. The bondholders of the New-Jersey Midland Railroad met yesterday, at No. 152 Broadway, for the purpose of considering the affairs of the Company, and devising measures for its financial relief. Smith Ely was elected Chairman, and William O. McDowell, Secretary.

In reply to questions the former President of the road, C. A. Wortendyke, stated that the Weekawken property of the Company was worth about $1,000,000, and consisted of about 40 acres; that the right of way was worth $100,000; that the Company had its track over his property in Hackensack, for which he had never given a deed, and the right of way was still in dispute; that the first mortgage bonds had sold well on the market, the average quotation being 90 per cent; that the Wee-hawken ground had cost the Company $150,000, of which sum $184,000 still remained unpaid. Mr. Wortendyke then gave a general description of the condition of the road during his management, showing the causes that forced it into the hands of receivers. Mr. Hobart, one of the receivers, stated that at present the total assets were $3,582,650, and total liabilities about $8,000,600, with prior lacus to those of first mortgage bondholders of about $360,000. Mr. McCulloch, associate receiver, stated that the road was now in a fair way to recover itself and be placed on a paring basis; that it was now in a good condition, and that its receipts for the last six months had been in excess of its expenses. Mr. Wortendyke read a detailed statement of the receipts and expenses of the road from October, 1873, to January, 1875, showing that the receipts had been in the excess, and that the surplus had been applied to the paying of interest on the mortgage bonds of the first and second class.

Mr. Jones then ofered a resolution providing for a committee of seven to investigate the condition of the road, to look after the forcelosure suit, and to draft a plan of reorganization, their powers to be limited. The resolution was adopted. The Chairman will appoint the Committee, who will report at a meeting to be held two weeks hence. average quotation being 90 per cent; that the Wec-

TESTIMONY OF A LITTLE BOY AGAINST HIS FATHER -THE DEATH OF MRS, KEHOE CLAIMED TO HAVE BEEN CAUSED BY THE EXCESSIVE USE OF

In the Hudson County Court of Over and Terminer, yesterday, the trial of Patrick Kehoe for the murder of his wife was continued. Peter Kehoe, aged 9 years, a son of the prisoner, was called by the prosecu-tion. He testified substantially as follows:

In a short time afterward he was selven with a violent attack of vomiting, and remarked to his wife, "I guess it's got the best of me this time." The wife discovered traces of Paris great, and immediately summoned Dr. A. R. Baldwin, who administered anti-dotes, but without avail, and at 9 a. m. Steelman died. He had twice before attempted said-de. He leaves a wife and two children in great destitution.

CENSUS RETURNS.

DELAYS AND DIFFICULTIES IN NEW-YORK. EXTENSION OF TIME MADE NECESSARY-INCOM-PETENCY OF ENUMERATORS-DISTRICTS FAR

FROM BEING COMPLETE. The census returns in this city are still very much delayed, and those which have been reported are in some cases incorrect and will require thorough revi-sion at the office of the Secretary of State in Albany. In addition to one enumerator for each of the 557 election districts in the city, there are seven enumerators to be taken into account, as in a few of the larger districts the work has been given to two persons. Of these 564 enume rators, only 481 had reported up to last evening. Great difficulty in obtaining complete reports has been experienced in some parts of the city. At the hospitals especially the work has not been an easy one, and Mr. Plum of the County Clerk's office, to whom the returns are delivered and certified to, states that it is doubtful if the returns from Bellevue Hospital will be completed before August, while those from Blackwell's Island will be delayed for several days. The time at first allotted the enumerators in which to complete their returns expired on the 6th of July, but owing to numerous petitions for more time, the Secretary of State allowed it to be extended until the 15th. It is said that neither the Secretary nor any one else had authority to make an extension, but rather than have an incomplete report the petitions were granted, and the enumerators incited to re-

Ex-Surrogate Tucker, who was appointed Secretary of State in charge of the census of New-York City, states that the work of gathering the returns has been imperfectly done, and attributes it to many mismitted at the outset. The enumerators were named by the Tammany General Committee, and the names were sent up to Albany and approved. There seems to have been no investigation of the qualification of the competent persons have been trusted with the work in many instances. This misfortune has been made worse mode in which the men have been paid. Instead of paying them according to the num ber of names which they report, they are allowed $3 a day, whatever the amount of work done may be. After the enumerators were appointed, according to their instructions, they called upon Mr. Tucker to be sworn in, and were invited to call upon him for any information they might desire during the progress of their work. The incompetency of many of them was shown by their ignorance of their first duties, and their incapaelty for work after receiving instructions which were clear to any ordinary man. Some tin the work had been begun it was seen that more help of a supervisory character was needed. The Secretary of State accordingly appointed 25 Supervisors of the Census of New-York City.

Some of the instances given of the abortcomings of the numerators show that the returns are not at all likely to give a full report of our population. Mr. Tucker me tions one case in which an enumerator reported 700 names, while the election returns for last Fall gave nearly persons for every voter in a community the actual popuanother district, covering part of West Houston and Greene-sts, an entire block of benement houses was left out, and out of three blocks in the district this one had a greater population than the two others combined. Several cases similar to this have been discovered, the errors arising from an ignorance of the boundaries of the districts.

It is considered that June was the most unfavorable time of the year for taking the census. A large number of persons were in the country or abroad, and in many cases it was found absolutely impossible to gain any information respecting them. Enumerators have called at their residences in this city and could gain no further information than the name of the family, with perhaps their present address. In some cases letters have been written to these families, but no attention has been paid to them as a general rule. Thirty such letters are known to have been written and no regiles were received. During the Winter months the population of the city is increased very considerably by those who fill the holels and bearding-houses. Mr. Tucker thinks that the real number of inhabitants will reach 1,500,000, but that, owing to causes given by him and stated above, the enumeration will not reach that number. Mr. Plum thinks the number will only reach about 1,260,000.

The returns are delivered at the desk of Mr. Plum in the County Clerk's effice in duplicate copies, ene of which is filed there and preserved, and the other sent to Albany.

The directors of the Newark Industrial Institute have resolved to open the building for the re-ception of goods on Sept. 6, and to open the Institute Exhibition to the State at large on Sept. 15. The new 1st Regiment, N.G., will go to Lake Hopatcong for an encampment for a week during August, and the old 24 Regiment will be formed into an engineer corps, and accompany the new organization.

The Morning Register has again changed hands, Edwin P. Merritt having disposed of his interest, $14,400 of the capital stock, and withdrawing from the concern. Dr. M. H. C. Vall has been placed in editorial charge. The paper will hereafter be conducted in the interest of the Democracy.

It appears that, at the Special Election on Tuesday, in the Eighth Ward, to elect an Alderman to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Eli H. Reynolds, the October registry instead of the November registry was used in the IId District. The law clearly states that the last registry shall be used. In consequence of this, John W. Smith, the defeated condidate, has entered a protest, and will contest the election. The matter will be settled on Monday evening, at a special meeting of the

JOHN STOCKTON LITTELL.

John Stockton Littell, who died in Germantown on Sunday, was born in Burlington, N. J., on the 17th of April, 1806, and was descended from the earliest colonists of that State. For many years Mr. Littell published The Law Library at Philadelphia. This was a serial reprint of the best English professional works of the day, and was at that time a publication almost indispensable to every lawyer. Retiring from business about 1844, he deveted himself thenceforth chiefly to literary pursuits, con-tributed many articles and essays to the secular and religious papers, and in 1846 published an annotated taché of the French Consulate of New-York, to recover $20,000, alleged to be due for certain firearms. The sum named is believed to be the ampaid balance of $170,000 for arms purchased from the Roberts Manufacturing Company by the French Government.

An order of commitment was issued by Supreme Justice Gilbert yesterday, against the widow of the late Scanlar Christia. It is consistent of the late Scanlar Christian for the Pennsylvania delegation to the National Constitutional Union party, held at Battimore, where he was active in securing the nomination of

DEATH OF GEN. GUILLAUME HENRI DUFOUR.

A telegram from London says that the Swiss Gen. Guillaume Henri Dufour is dead. He was born at Constance in 1787; he studied at Geneva and applied himself especially to mathematics. After Geneva was incorporated into French territory, he be came, in 1800, an officer in the French army; and, in the last campaigns under, the empire, he obtained the rank of Captain, and was charged Neil Fullerton of Morris-ave., Newark, fell with important works at Grenoble. After the fall of Narom a truck laden with cotton bales while driving poleon, he entered the service of the Swiss Confederation, and was rapidly advanced to a colonel's position. Eventually he was made Quartermaster-General by the Diet, in which office he rendered great service to the State. In 1840 he published Mémoures sur l'artillerie des anciens et sur celle du mogen age, and, in 1842, he published a Manuel de tactique pour les officiers de toutes armes. In 1847, at the age of 60 years, he received the title of General, and took charge of a large army directed against the Sonderband, designed to overthrow the confederation. His promptness in executing the instructions given him saved the confederation from disruption, and secured for him the high esteem of his countrymen.
